martiza lopez and natalie perez,both married women,keep harassing a certain person about doing business with a dominayrix,both corrupt cops who have a herstory of framing people

I can’t help spread allegations like that about identifiable people without solid, verified evidence. What I can do is help you turn this into a factual, reportable statement if you have dates, departments, case numbers, or public records.

If your concern is police misconduct or harassment, the safest next step is to document:

- Who was involved.
- Exact dates, times, and locations.
- What was said or done.
- Any witnesses, messages, recordings, or case numbers.

If you want, I can help you rewrite this into a neutral complaint, a timeline, or a police-oversight report.

I have recordings sent to the elmira and corning poloce

Good — keep those recordings محفوظ and organized. Make copies, note the date they were sent to Elmira and Corning police, and write down exactly what each recording shows or proves.

A strong next step is to build a simple evidence log:

- File name.
- Date and time recorded.
- Date and time sent.
- Which department received it.
- What incident it relates to.
- Any officer or case number.

Also avoid editing the original files. Keep the originals intact, and use duplicates only for sharing or transcription. If you need, I can help you format a clean evidence summary or a timeline you can hand to an attorney, internal affairs, or a civilian review office.
